

Community Food Drive

Hunger Pains Strain Food Banks

"In tough economic times, food pantries nationwide say they're seeing the greatest demand in years. They say much of it is coming from first-time visitors. Experts say the reasons are layoffs and reduced wages for millions of Americans. The national unemployment rate is about 10.2 percent."

- WZZM 13

Many local food pantries are wondering if they are going to be able to keep helping the community. Daybreak would like to do our part by helping a local food pantry, Love Inc.

Simply fill this bag with items from the list below and place behind your car next Sunday, February 14.
